Shauna Rohbock began the sport of bobsledding in 1999 as a brakewoman before moving into the driver's seat in 2002. Rohbock was named to the 2006 Olympic team and capped off a successful season by winning a silver medal with brakewoman Valerie Fleming. She finished the 2006-2007 season with seven World Cup medals, ranked second overall in World Cup standings. Rohbock graduated from Brigham Young University in 1999 with a major in recreation management. She was an All-American athlete in track and soccer while attending BYU. Rohbock was a member of the San Diego Spirit of the Women's United Soccer Association (WUSA) and a member of the Utah National Guard.

ABOUT ME

Shauna is the middle child of seven siblings: five sisters and one brother. If Shauna had to sing any karaoke song, it would be Ice Ice baby because she "knows the words." Shauna loves dogs, eating sushi and spending time fishing with her dad. One of the things she loves most about bobsledding is that it gives her the chance to see the world.
